

A Closer Look at Unmarried Families:

Children's Experiences of Relationship Instability and Family Complexity

Family Taskforce Meeting
Brookings Institution
Feb 10th, 2011

Part 1: Relationship Instability

Part 1: Relationship Instability

Total New Parental Romantic Relationships in Fragile Families, by Child's 5th Birthday

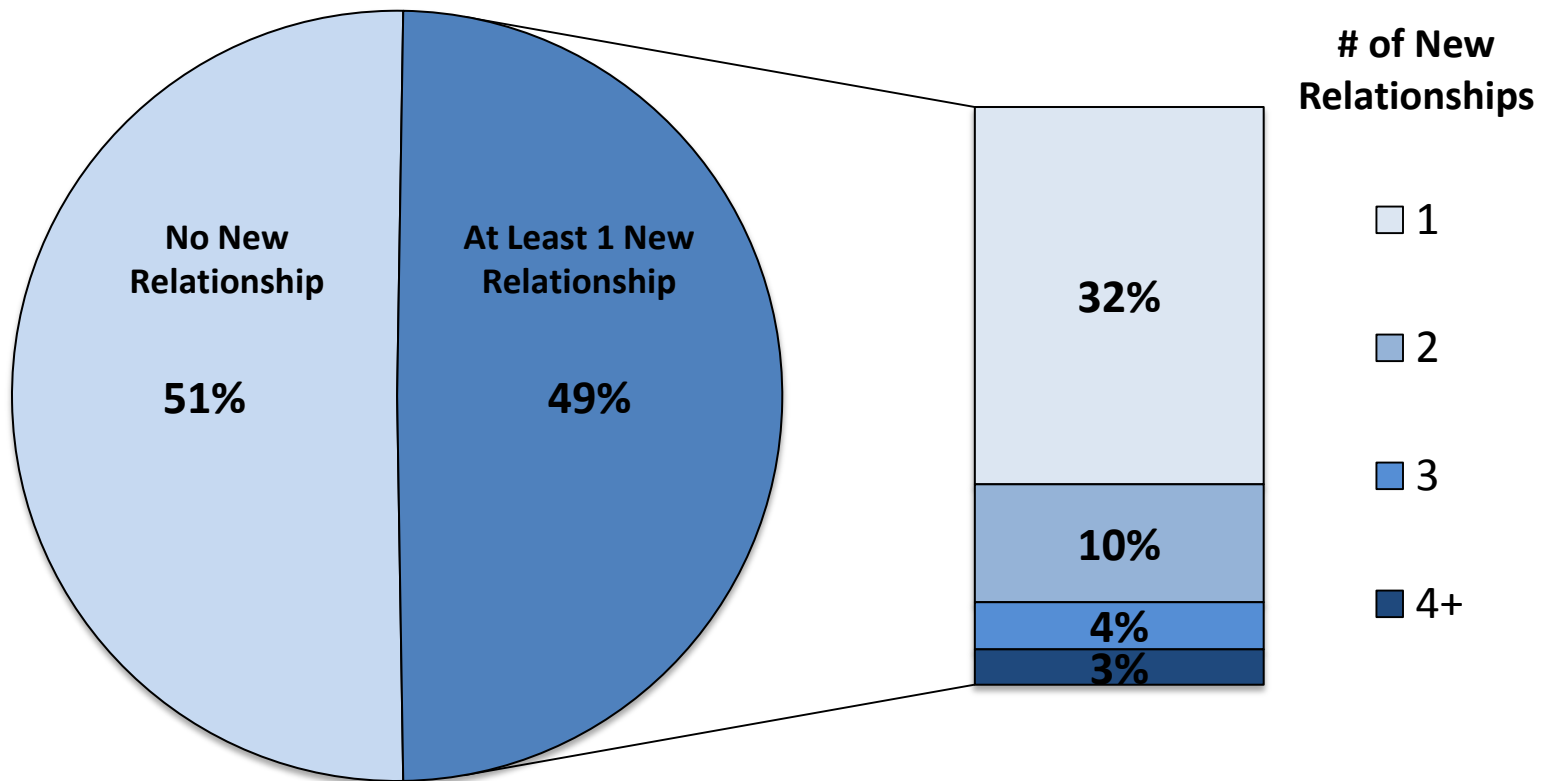

Source: Tabulated by Dr. Laura Tach from Waves 1-4 of the Fragile Families & Child Wellbeing Survey, a nationally representative sample of children born in the late 1990s in cities with populations of 200,000 or more. Counts total number of mothers' and fathers' new romantic relationships that lasted at least three months. Fragile Families are defined as biological parents who were unmarried at time of birth.

Mother's New Romantic Relationships in Fragile Families by Child's 5th Birthday

Source: Tabulated by Dr. Laura Tach from Waves 1-4 of the Fragile Families & Child Wellbeing Survey, a nationally representative sample of children born in the late 1990s in cities with populations of 200,000 or more. Counts total number of mothers' new romantic relationships that lasted at least three months. Fragile Families are defined as biological parents who were unmarried at time of birth.

Father's New Romantic Relationships in Fragile Families by Child's 5th Birthday

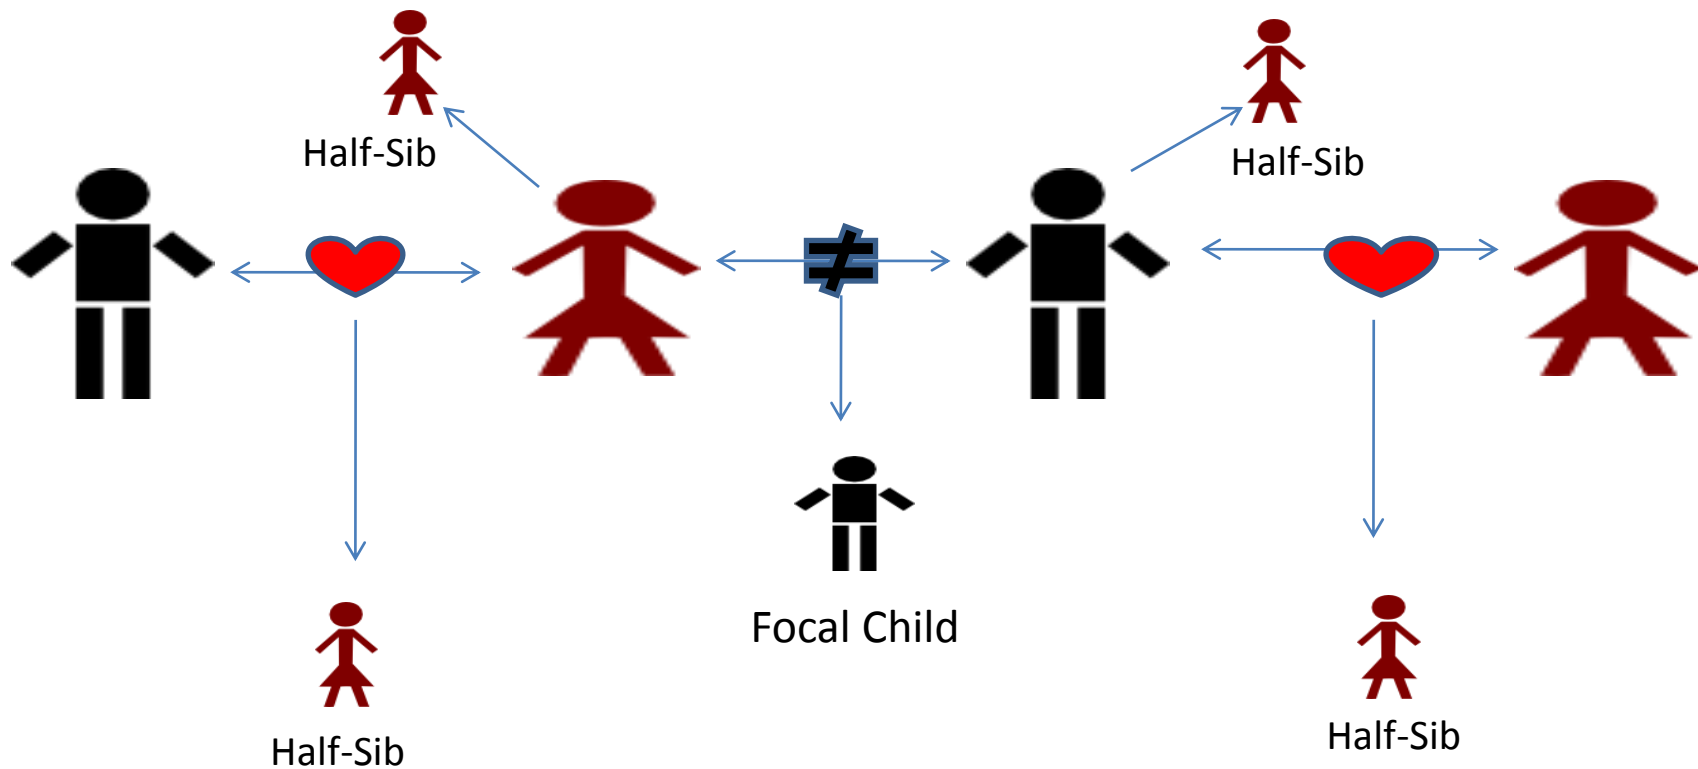

Source: Tabulated by Dr. Laura Tach from Waves 1-4 of the Fragile Families & Child Wellbeing Survey, a nationally representative sample of children born in the late 1990s in cities with populations of 200,000 or more. Counts total number of fathers' new romantic relationships that lasted at least three months. Fragile Families are defined as biological parents who were unmarried at time of birth.

Part 2: Family Complexity

Part 2: Family Complexity

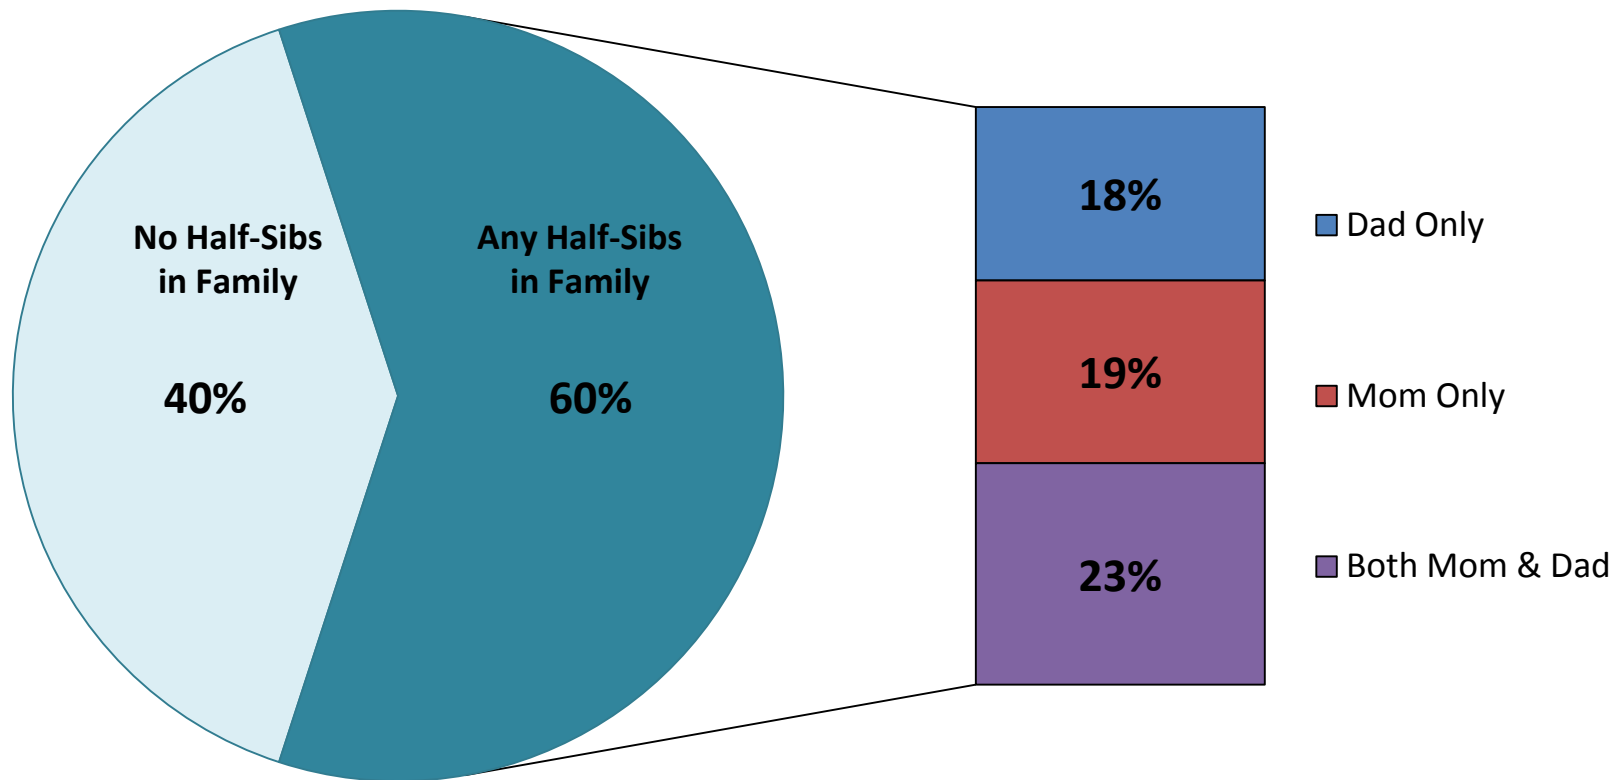

Amount of Multi-Partner Fertility (Half-Sibs) in Fragile Families by Child's 5th Birthday

Source: Tabulated by Dr. Laura Tach from Waves 1-4 of the Fragile Families & Child Wellbeing Survey, a nationally representative sample of children born in the late 1990s in cities with populations of 200,000 or more. Counts total number of half-siblings (biological children of either mother or father, but not both). Fragile Families are defined as biological parents who were unmarried at time of birth.

Type of Multi-Partner Fertility (Half-Sibs) in Fragile Families by Child's 5th Birthday

Source: Tabulated by Dr. Laura Tach from Waves 1-4 of the Fragile Families & Child Wellbeing Survey, a nationally representative sample of children born in the late 1990s in cities with populations of 200,000 or more.

Half-siblings are biological children of either mother or father, but not both.

Fragile Families are defined as biological parents who were unmarried at time of birth.

Children's Combined Experiences of Instability and Complexity in Fragile Families by 5th Birthday

Unstable: relationship between biological parents ends and/or relationship with new partner begins
Complex: one or more parents has children by a different partner

Source: Tabulated by Dr. Laura Tach from Waves 1-4 of the Fragile Families & Child Wellbeing Survey, a nationally representative sample of children born in the late 1990s in cities with populations of 200,000 or more. Fragile Families are defined as biological parents who were unmarried at time of birth.

Children's Combined Experiences of Instability and Complexity in Fragile Families by 5th Birthday

Unstable: relationship between biological parents ends and/or relationship with new partner begins
Complex: one or more parents has children by a different partner

Source: Tabulated by Dr. Laura Tach from Waves 1-4 of the Fragile Families & Child Wellbeing Survey, a nationally representative sample of children born in the late 1990s in cities with populations of 200,000 or more. Fragile Families are defined as biological parents who were unmarried at time of birth.

Children's Combined Experiences of Instability and Complexity in Fragile Families by 5th Birthday

•18% of kids have step-siblings from either mom's or dad's current new partner.

Source: Tabulated by Dr. Laura Tach from Waves 1-4 of the Fragile Families & Child Wellbeing Survey, a nationally representative sample of children born in the late 1990s in cities with populations of 200,000 or more. Fragile Families are defined as biological parents who were unmarried at time of birth.

